Previous studies	Client Work in Practice 10 CR.
Learning objectives	The student will be able to: • evaluate and critically discuss his or her professional work • critically assess working methods & attitudes in working life by comparing them to anti-oppressive principles on empowering client care • evaluate the role social welfare institutions play in socially excluding clients • work in an empowering manner which seeks to reduce power imbalances • develop alternative and innovative ways of working
Contents	DESCRIPTION The second 10 week practice placement aims to develop the student's ability to work independently with different client groups in multi-professional work communities. It focuses on skills of critical reflection and the application of anti-oppressive practice principles in developing the student's own working style and professional growth. The student will assess and evaluate the nature of service provision offered by the practice institution and suggest innovative and alternative ways of working. KEY QUESTIONS Why is it important to identify specific working methods in practice?How can a social worker identify different methods of client work?How are assessment and evaluation skills applied in the context of anti-oppressive practice?How do you develop alternative and improved services?
